

Fight Night: A Texas Tradition

“Fite Nite” was born in the late thirties during Round-Up Weekend hosted by the University of Texas at Austin. It wasn’t until 1975 that the Alpha Nu Chapter of Sigma Chi at UT took over the event and transformed it into a philanthropic opportunity. Since then, the event has made its way to all parts of the country as an event that allows other Sigma Chi Chapters to work and raise money to be donated to charitable causes.

Sigma Chi Fight Night

32nd Annual Philanthropic Event

Why Is This Year Any Different?

This year we are changing things up a bit. The matches will be followed by a renowned country band to finish the night off right. This year is also very special because we are raising money for one of our brothers to bike to Alaska as a part of Texas 4000 to spread hope, knowledge, and charity in the fight against cancer.

"Since its 1930 beginning, Fight Night has been the weekend to end all weekends! The busiest 72 hours of the school year!"
